

MARBLE CANYON

With a rootsy feel and sweat dripping off their instruments, Marble Canyon is a six-piece, roots blending alternative country and folk rock band known for their rich vocal harmonies, musical prowess and intimate stage presence. Often said to have the same classic feel as Blue Rodeo, Tom Petty and Jackson Browne, the band knows how to connect with crowds large and small.

After a year of playing together, the band released their debut EP "A Place to Rest", in 2012.

What started as a three-piece band has now morphed into a six-piece, alt-country music machine:

Singer, songwriter and guitarist Jason Greenway is at the helm with Pilar Peterson (vocals/percussion), Kris Branch (lead guitar+lapsteel guitar), Rajan Das (bass), Mark Bannock (drums/vocals) and Radim Koppitz (violin) all working together to create a rootsy blend of alt-country and folk rock.

Based out of Whistler, British Columbia, the band feels at home playing both small, intimate crowds or larger, festival-style crowds.

Look for their new full-length album 'The Other Side'.

RIFL: Blue Rodeo, Tom Petty and Jackson Browne

Origin: Whistler

Genre: alt-country-folk-rock-roots

Years Active: 2011 - Present

Label: Marble Canyon

Official Website: marblecanyonmusic.com

"As distinct as the morning cry of a hawk circling the field and soothing as an afternoon dip in the creek - Marble Canyon's music captures the flow and feel of a life well-lived."

- Feet Banks
Mountain Life Magazine

BOOKINGS / PUBLICITY

 (604) 902-0739

 /marblecanyonmusic

 @marblecanyon

 marblecanyonmusic@gmail.com

MARBLECANYONMUSIC.COM